I understand and acknowledge all the following:

- I am the shipper/exporter, not Offix Edge.
- All the above information is correct and true. Failure to disclose the true contents and value may result in my package being confiscated or returned without refund.
- I accept all responsibility for any legal issues that arise from this shipment and hold Offix Edge harmless from any legal fees.
- My package will be subject to customs approval. In the event that it is refused by customs, I may be responsible for additional fees for the package to be returned or it may be confiscated without compensation or refund.
- My package may be subject to duties and taxes as assessed by the importing country. The recipient/consignee will be required to pay these fees to receive the package. Offix Edge and the shipping carrier have no way to determine these duties and taxes prior to the package being released by customs. Failure to pay duties and taxes will likely result in the confiscation with no refund of shipping fees. Package may be returned for additional fees.
- Declared and insured values do not cover packages that are forfeited due to customs or duties and tax issues.
- If for any reason, Offix Edge's carrier shipping account is billed for additional fees related to this shipment for any reason, I am responsible for reimbursing Offix Edge.
